DEAN'S MESSAGE

Welcome to FEB's EkoBiz, Special Edition.

We are now living in uncertain times. The Covid 19 pandemic is raging on, with no end in sight. Not too long ago, Kota Samarahan and Kuching have been declared green zones. But things have changed yet again. Kuching and Kota Samarahan are not green zones as of 25th of July 2020.

Needless to say, we are affected. We must follow health guidelines and SOPs with great care and concern. We have no choice but to follow these guidelines to ensure our health remains optimal. The essence of these guidelines are social distancing, hand and body hygiene and discipline, especially when going to lectures and in interacting with fellow staff and students in the faculty and in the campus. We must abide by the health and mask wearing directives which may change from time to time. This is the new normal.

But our activities in this faculty have not stopped. We adapt to this new normal and move on. We adapt to the best of our ability in pursuing our activities. To this end I, present to the latest edition of the EkoBiz.

The periods in which this bulletin covers coincide with the initial MCO (Movement Control Order), the conditional MCO and the opening up of the economy in the recovery phase of the MCO.

Here in this faculty we encourage our staffs to collaborate not only amongst the staff in this Faculty but also to outside of the Faculty within the broader UNIMAS community and even beyond, outside of the university, especially with industry, the various local communities and other stakeholders. Through these collaborations our activities would be sustainable and produce the greatest impact. Remember, all big things start small.

The EkoBiz is made possible by the efforts of many especially the Editor team, Dr Nur Constance Wah, Ms Azuriaty & Mr Ahmad Syubaili. Therefore, I would like to thank all contributors to this EkoBiz. May we all be in good health and in good spirits to take on the challenges the future has in store.

Barakallahufiikum.

Dean

FROM CHIEF EDITOR'S DESK

Bismillahirrahmanirrahim (In the name of Allah, the Most Gracious the Most Merciful)

Assalamualyikum warahmatullahi
wabarakatuh and greetings to all readers,

On behalf of the EkoBiz editorial team, we are delighted to present Faculty of Economics and Business (FEB) UNIMAS, EkoBiz Special Edition 2020. The EkoBiz Special Edition strives to share the activities, events, and stories by our Faculty members during the pandemic of Covid-19. Over the last few months, it has truly been an honor to receive an overwhelming input from the faculty members and students. The editorial team dedicated a monumental amount of time, energy toward preparing the EkoBiz, and our tireless efforts have made the EkoBiz Volume One and EkoBiz Special Edition a great success. While there were many challenges to overcome, the experiences were remarkably enjoyable and rewarding.

The passion our faculty members and students put for this Special Edition is readily apparent and the stories truly represents the breadth of perspectives that make FEB unique. In our spotlight piece, EkoBiz Special Edition gives us a glimpse into faculty in the news where our academicians are continually invited to provide commentary on a range of Covid-19 topics for diverse media outlets. The in-depth analysis presents a true depth of knowledge on the pandemic impact towards the economy, business, and the society in a compelling show of how our faculty academicians can translate into a level of genuine real-world expertise.

Lastly, we would like to thank you, the reader, for your continuous support in EkoBiz. We hope you enjoy the fruits of our labor and that these stories can help to strengthen our bond.

Happy reading!

ADMINISTRATIVE ACTIVITIES

Back to Campus: Safe Distance at the Workplace

May 12, 2020

Simple disinfection around the faculty areas including the corridors at each level, office doors by our dedicated cleaners – Kak Hasibah, Kak May, Kak Sa'ada, Norhayati, and Dayung.

The only cleaners you can trust. The cleaner the place, the safer the place.

Our administrative staff, Mr Hailman b Bawi, Madam Dayangku Zyzy Cemylya bt Awang Rahmat, and Madam Nora Chung working hard preparing the office cleaning materials including face masks, hand gloves, wiping cloth, and sanitizer. These items were distributed to all faculty members upon their return to campus. Excellent work!

As part of health screening procedures, every faculty staff who enter the faculty premise are required to get body temperature checked by our administrative staff and scanned QR code at LG level. Body temperature checked by our lovely administrative staff, Madam Fette Nadia bt Salleh.

To support public health, the faculty maintain a social distance of at least 1 metre from others. Five red squares tagging are placed inside elevator to maintain safe distancing. We express our gratitude to our administrative team in ensuring our safety and health around the faculty and campus.

Mr Hailman b Bawi in action.

Storm stripes (yellow-black and-red white) barricade tapes @ caution tapes are placed on the glass doors, wooden doors, chairs, and the staircase to catch the attention of passerby of the area to prevent entrance.

Disposed Recycle Items

On 26 June 2020, our administrative staff managed to send out recycle materials collected by FEB staff and SICMA since January 2020 including shredded paper, newspaper, cardboard, books, and boxes to waste management. Recycling is one of the best ways in which we can attempt to make a positive impact on the world we live in. Not only does recycling help to save space, it also reduces the pollution allowing for rainforests and other sources to be preserved. Here are the faculty recycle room located at Level 2 before and after pictures where the recycle items are kept. Well done to those involved.

Career Day at FEB? Yes, you've heard it right. The Faculty of Economics and Business (FEB) organized its first ever Career Day on 4th March 2020. FEB's 5 societies; Society of Marketing Talent (SMART), Society of Professional Development in Economics (SPADE), Finance Student Association (FinAce), Society in Corporate Management (SICMA) and UNIMAS Accounting Society (UNIMAC) worked extremely hard in ensuring that students of FEB and of the other faculties had an exciting, insightful and eventful day. Kudos to these societies for making FEB Career Day a reality. The success of the event sets the tone for it to becoming an annual affair.

SMART (SOCIETY OF MARKETING TALENT)

SMART was honoured to have the participation of three companies; Prudential, Public Mutual Berhad and Maybank at its Industrial Exhibition Zone, at FEB's Student Square. FACULTY IN THE NEWS

FEB academicians were continuously invited to provide commentary on a range of topics for diverse media outlets. Many of these stories were widely broadcasted throughout the nation during the pandemic. Besides English and Bahasa Malaysia version news article, the Chinese version news article also cited our academicians's work! This demonstrates that our academicians view is well recognized not only by the mainstream but also by other language media platform. Although I don't understand Chinese written, but I can see the name in Roman wording.

Two of our academicians, Professor Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor and Associate Professor Dr Evan Lau Poh Hock were interviewed and live on-air regarding issues related to Covid-19 and the economics. Here are the examples:

Professor Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor in the News

1. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor was quoted in The Edge Markets, Chinese version (for English version news titled: Proposed stimulus package can cushion Covid-19 impact – economists) from the Bernama. The article was published on February 13, 2020.

马来西亚砂拉越大学经济与商业学院的Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor认为，经济刺激计划应该覆盖所有行业和所有规模的企业，以获得更高的乘数效应。他说：“这将带来更好的连接。大公司通常需要时间启动一个项目，而中小企业在短时间内就启动了一个项目。”

因此，他表示，乘数效应要快得多，尤其是对于与旅游相关的经济刺激计划。

Shazali指出，为了刺激国内旅游业，应该采取酒店和民宿折扣、降低过路费以及大型酒店免税等激励措施。他说：“我国需要一个刺激计划来促进经济增长，比如在全国范围内开展小型项目，如兴建学校或其他类似项目，这样才能实现整体增长。”

至于刺激计划会否扩大政府的财政赤字，他表示，政府必须做出选择，要么保持盈余，要么出现赤字。

“在某个阶段，如果经济增长比赤字更重要，对经济和人民的福祉更重要，为什么不做出一个让人民富裕起来的选择，而不是预算盈余。”

Shazali称：“新加坡和日本等许多国家都有预算赤字，但它们的情况还不错。”

2. Prof Datuk Dr. Shazali Abu Mansor is interviewed by Sinar Harian titled "Kerajaan perlu bantu sektor penerbangan". The article was published on March 15, 2020.

SHAH ALAM - Kerajaan perlu campur tangan dengan membantu syarikat penerbangan negara melalui pakej rangsangan ekonomi sedia ada berikutan wabak koronavirus (Covid-19) semakin membimbangkan. Pakar ekonomi, Profesor Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor berkata, sektor penerbangan sebelum ini banyak membantu pertumbuhan ekonomi negara terutama dalam sektor pelancongan. "Sudah tiba masanya kerajaan turut menghulurkan bantuan supaya sektor ini dapat terus memberikan perkhidmatan dalam keadaan yang mencabar ketika ini," katanya kepada Sinar Harian di sini semalam.

Dr Shazali yang juga Profesor Kanan Ekonomi Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (Unimas) berkata, memberi cuti tanpa gaji kepada kakitangan adalah langkah untuk survival syarikat penerbangan dalam menghadapi situasi sukar kini.

Menurutnya, situasi itu bukan disebabkan syarikat terbabit tidak kompetitif menyediakan perkhidmatan tetapi disebabkan wabak Covid-19 di peringkat global. "Saya difahamkan ada syarikat penerbangan terpaksa menangguhkan pembayaran gaji kepada pekerja disebabkan situasi yang membelenggu dunia ketika ini. Jadi kita perlu memahami keadaan yang dialami mereka ketika ini disebabkan wabak Covid-19 ini banyak syarikat penerbangan bukan sahaja di Malaysia bahkan di seluruh dunia terpaksa membatalkan laluan penerbangan menyebabkan pendapatan syarikat turut terjejas," katanya.

3. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor is interviewed by Radio Televisyen Malaysia (RTM). The audio recording was published on April 29, 2020.

Penularan wabak covid 19 telah merubah lanskap ekonomi seluruh dunia termasuk Malaysia. Timbul persoalan sama ada negara mampu bangkit dan menangani impak langsung ini. Berikut merupakan laporan khas ekonomi Malaysia pasca covid-19 oleh Atikah Maktar Bersama Professor kanan fakulti ekonomi dan perniagaan, UNIMAS, Professor Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor. "Ada sektor sektor lain yang kita boleh tingkatkan seperti sektor pertanian, sektor makanan, farmasi (kesihatan), yang mana ia mendapat permintaan yang sangat tinggi di masa yang akan datang ini. Kita boleh memperkasakan. Jadi saya rasa tidak ada sebab kenapa kita tidak dapat bangkit dari sektor-sektor yang diperlukan".

4. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor is interviewed by Sinar Harian titled "Bank perlu beri peluang kedua buat peminjam". The article was published on June 29, 2020.

Profesor Kanan Ekonomi Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (Unimas), Profesor Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor yang berpendapat pihak bank wajar memperincikan mekanisme tertentu sekiranya tempoh moratorium tidak dilanjutkan. Beliau berkata, pihak bank wajar membantu golongan yang benar-benar terkesan dan sumber pendapatan mereka terjejas akibat penularan Covid-19.

"Mungkin pihak bank boleh memberi kelonggaran kepada pengusaha-pengusaha Perusahaan Kecil dan Sederhana yang masih terkesan dan baru kembali beroperasi."

"Jadi keutamaan wajar diberikan kepada pelanggan-pelanggan yang betul-betul terkesan termasuklah mereka yang diberhentikan kerja, gaji mereka dipotong dan sebagainya berbanding kakitangan awam," katanya. Beliau bagaimanapun berkata, keputusan berhubung pelanjutan moratorium itu nanti bergantung kepada institusi perbankan yang terlibat dalam pemberian moratorium pada 1 April lalu.

5. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor is interviewed by Bernama and quoted in two media namely Astro Awani (news titled Stimulus package is comprehensive, will benefit everyone – Economists), and MalaysiaKini (news titled: Stimulus package gives breathing space for SMEs micro-entrepreneurs). The article was published on March 27, 2020.

Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS) senior professor of the economic and business faculty, Prof Dr Shazali Abu Mansor, concurred that the PRIHATIN package presented is very comprehensive and covers many objectives. He noted that one of the objectives is to spur economic growth. "The stimulus package will add 2-3 per cent to the GDP growth," he told Bernama in an interview today. Shazali said at RM250 billion, the total PRIHATIN allocation is almost equivalent to the 2020 Budget's expenditure allocation of RM297 billion. "Compared to the US stimulus package of US$2 trillion, which is 10 per cent of its US$20 trillion GDP, our package is much more realistic in this situation because this is the time when we shouldn't think too much on whether we have a deficit budget or otherwise; and I'm sure we have enough internal sources of fund to implement this package," he said.

The economist said the package also zooms to the objective of helping people in need, and this in turn will spur the country's growth. "This stimulus package would definitely cheer Malaysians up, because it is comprehensive. It doesn't matter who you are, you are being covered by the package," he said, adding that even some of them would get more than their usual working income, particularly for an ordinary worker. "Hopefully with this stimulus package, the circulation of funds will be in the country and it will spur the economy, as when the rakyat have the money, they can use it for food and medical needs," said Shazali.

He said this stimulus package is very interesting and comprehensive and would have an immediate effect through handouts, particularly to frontliners, pensioners and civil servants, in addition to benefiting employers that may have considered retrenching workers. He noted that the stimulus package would spur the economy and generate disposable income for the people, as this would increase their domestic consumption rather than external consumption.

Shazali opined that through the RM250 billion stimulus package, the government would not run out of funds, as institutions prefer to buy Malaysian Government Securities (MGS) as compared to investments in the stock market. "MGS would guarantee a better return compared to the stock market and other markets. I don't think the government would resort to international borrowings as the domestic institutions have stable income for future dividends. At this juncture, you don't care too much on having a deficit but focus on how we can protect the people, and I think it is the job of the government," he said.

6. Prof Datuk Dr. Shazali Abu Mansor is interviewed by Bernama and on-air in Astro Awani news on April 11, 2020 talking about - Additional economic sectors chosen taken into account supply chain, SME survival – Economists.

Additional economic sectors chosen take into account supply chain, SME survival - Economists

Bernama | April 11, 2020 09:35 +08 | Duration: 2 minutes, 37 seconds

KUALA LUMPUR: Economists view the additional sectors which are allowed to operate during the Movement Control Order (MCO) by the International Trade and Industry Ministry as very targeted, taking into consideration the global supply chain and how it would relate to the business survival of the small and medium enterprises (SMEs).

Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS) senior professor of the economic and business faculty, Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor, said the approval of the additional sectors will ensure the economy is still moving. "It will also help to increase the output, matching with the aggregate demand, although still at a very minimal level. Selective sectors that are deemed safe or minimal risk should continue to be evaluated and allowed to operate not only to meet the demand but also to ensure the Malaysian economy will not be at the lowest point," he said. Shazali hopes that approved companies will abide by the strict standard operating procedures (SOPs) during the MCO to mitigate the COVID-19 spread, and that extra SOP measures will be introduced such as the number of customers at any one time at business premises.

7. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor is interviewed by Berita Harian talking about "Penularan Covid-19: Kejayaan tangani krisis jadi nilai tambah tarik FDI". The article was published on April 20, 2020.

Kejayaan tangani krisis jadi nilai tambah tarik FDI

Kerajaan perlu manfaat peluang, terap kaedah urus niaga secara digital

Kuala Lumpur: Kejayaan Malaysia menangani krisis pandemik COVID-19 setakat ini, bakal menjadi nilai tambah bagi menarik kemasukan pelaburan langsung asing (FDI).

Selain kestabilan politik dan dasar luar yang membra pelbagai pengikat industri, ekonomi Malaysia turut dijanjika menerima rangsangan luar biasa daripada pelabur khususnya yang membabitkan beberapa sektor utama.

Profesor Rakan Fakulti Ekonomi dan Perniagaan, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS), Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor, berkata peluang kemasukan itu harus dimanfaatkan usahawan di negara ini, selain menerapkan kaedah urus niaga secara digital atau dalam talian.

Beliau berkata, syarikat teknologi maklumat dan komunikasi (ICT) wajar diperkasa melalui insentif kerajaan bagi melonjak daya saing serta kemampuan mereka membekalkan perkhidmatan kepada pelanggan domestik.

"Ia ibarat rantalan proses yang memberikan kesan kepada ekonomi negara secara keseluruhan, justeru kita perlu merebut peluang itu kerana Malaysia kini berada di 'mata dunia' susulan kejayaan menangani krisis pandemik COVID-19, setakat ini."

Pelabur tahu jika Malaysia dianda sebagai krisis pada masa depan, negara mampu terus berdiri serta tidak merencatkan sektor perniagaan buat suatu tempoh lama, berbanding negara serantau lain.

"Oleh itu, bagi memastikan syarikat mega serta perusahaan kecil dan sederhana (PKS) dapat menarik FDI, kerajaan harus memberi galakan melalui insentif dan modal untuk menaik taraf kemampuan mereka," katanya ketika dihubungi BHM, semalam.

Mengenai sektor ekonomi yang diketangkahkan pasca COVID-19, Shazali merincikan industri pengeluaran makanan, kesihatan, ICT dan bioteknologi diberikan tumpuan khusus.

Beliau berkata, subsektor makanan ketika ini mempunyai peluang keberuntungan tinggi pada negara jiran, menyatukan Malaysia terdedah sebagai tempat pada peringkat antarabangsa.

"Contohnya daging, kita masih bergantung kepada bekalan luar kerajaan sebelum ini ada pelan jangka panjang untuk memperkasa pengeluaran subsektor makanan itu, tetapi terlepas beberapa masalah."

"Justeru, ini masanya untuk bangkit dan memperkasakan subsektor itu serta mempertingkatkan kadar bekalan bagi memenuhi keperluan domestik sebelum membanjir pasaran antarabangsa," katanya.

Shazali berkata, Malaysia juga wajar memanfaatkan kemampuan sebagai antara pengeluar produk teras dalam industri hiliran untuk menguasai pasaran pada peringkat serantau.

Bagaimanapun, beliau berkata syarikat ICT perlu tampil membantu memberi 'nafas' baharu kepada PKS yang mengeluarkan pelbagai produk hiliran supaya kowid pemasaran mereka menggunakan ciri digital.

"Sebenarnya, kita sudah sepah jalan dan saya percaya krisis COVID-19 menyatukan peluang untuk PKS menyinar pada peringkat antarabangsa, tetapi mereka perlu dibantu."

"Jika kita berjaya mendigitalkan mereka, saya percaya PKS yang memasarkan pelbagai produk hiliran, berupaya menjadi antara penyumbang terbesar kepada Keluaran Dalam Negara Kasar," katanya.

Spike in Covid-19 cases from rushed reopening can lead to bigger losses – economists

Alysa Alhadidi

Published: 4 May 2020 9:00pm | 224

CORONAVIRUS | Economists today cautioned that a rush to implement the conditional movement control order (MCO) could result in bigger losses if the country is hit by another spike in Covid-19 infections. Six states have announced that it would not follow Putrajaya's lead concerning the conditional MCO beginning today and several economists contacted by Malaysiakini believe that the resistance is justified. University Malaysia Sarawak senior economics professor Shazali Abu Mansor said it was a reasonable move by the state governments, including Sarawak, to postpone the conditional reopening of certain economic sectors. "I do think that's reasonable. Even from an economic perspective, it's important for us to also look at the bigger picture."

"If many of us fall sick, that would cause losses to the economy. To reopen and close businesses again, that's a big loss," he said when contacted. "The economy is not only about making money. We must look at the economy not only from the aspect of dollars and cents," he added. With only eight days left until May 12, Shazali said states that chose to not proceed with the conditional MCO could use the time to educate the people and employers on compliance to new standard operating procedures. At the same time, he conceded that even within a state like Sarawak, leeway could be given for people living in the interiors, classified as green zones for Covid-19 infections. "But not here in Kuching or Kota Samarahan," he said, referring to the two red zones among the 40 districts in Sarawak.

9. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor appeared in Berita Harian Online on June 21, 2020 titled "Pecah monopoli tidak jamin mampu kurangkan kadar tarif".

KUALA LUMPUR: Percaturan memecahkan monopoli bekalan tenaga elektrik negara bakal mengundang pelbagai kepincangan, termasuk menjejaskan kelangsungan perkhidmatan kepada pengguna. Profesor Kanan Fakulti Ekonomi dan Perniagaan, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS), Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor, berkata syarikat baharu yang ingin meneroka perniagaan utiliti memerlukan modal besar dan kepakaran tertentu. Selain itu, beliau berkata, urusan niaga syarikat utiliti mempunyai kos tidak langsung yang sangat tinggi, sekali gus boleh mempengaruhi kadar tarif bekalan elektrik kepada pengguna. "Berdasarkan beberapa asas ini, langkah atau pertimbangan untuk memecahkan monopoli bekalan utiliti tidak semestinya mampu mengurangkan kadar harga bekalan elektrik kepada pengguna. "Sebaliknya, kelangsungan bekalan harian kepada pengguna mungkin berdepan gangguan kerana syarikat yang baru ingin menceburi bidang perniagaan utiliti ini berkemungkinan berdepan masalah aliran tunai. "Apabila berdepan masalah sedemikian, aspek perkhidmatan akan terencat dan hanya mencetuskan pelbagai rungutan dalam kalangan pengguna, manakala kerajaan sukar mengawal situasi semasa," katanya ketika dihubungi BH, hari ini. Menteri Tenaga dan Sumber Asli, Datuk Shamsul Anuar Nasarah, hari ini dilaporkan berkata kerajaan belum bercadang memecahkan monopoli perniagaan dalam sektor perkhidmatan bekalan elektrik negara. Keputusan itu dikatakan selari matlamat kerajaan untuk menjamin aspek kelangsungan bekalan kepada pengguna, selain memastikan kawalan terhadap syarikat berupaya dilakukan sekiranya wujud isu berbangkit pada masa depan. Mengemukakan cadangan balas, Shazali berkata, langkah mengurangkan beban kos bayaran elektrik dalam kalangan rakyat dapat dilaksanakan menerusi beberapa pendekatan, termasuk menilai semula julat kadar tarif semasa dan menerapkan elemen koperasi antara syarikat, pemegang taruh serta pengguna. Beliau berkata, golongan B40 dan M40 yang paling terkesan dalam peningkatan kos sara hidup, berupaya menikmati manfaat caj bekalan elektrik terendah jika blok pertama tarif ditingkatkan daripada 200 kilowatt sejam (kWj) kepada 300 kWj. "Namun, kadar untuk blok pertama itu dikekalkan 21.8 sen. Ini bertujuan memastikan B40 dan M40 ada lebih pendapatan boleh guna yang akhirnya akan dikitar semula dalam ekonomi domestik menerusi perbelanjaan bagi keperluan lain. "Pendekatan koperasi dengan pemberian rebat sebagaimana diterapkan di negara maju seperti United Kingdom (UK) pula boleh digunakan untuk memberi situasi menang-menang antara syarikat pembekal dengan golongan T20. "Bekalan utiliti adalah perniagaan yang sudah pasti menjana keuntungan, justeru syarikat sepatutnya mempunyai dasar tanggungjawab sosial untuk mengagihkan semula pendapatan atau pulangan kepada pengguna sebagai pelanggan setia mereka. "Keuntungan atau pulangan tidak seharusnya sekadar diagih kepada pemegang taruh dalam perniagaan mereka kerana pengguna juga melanggan perkhidmatan mereka seharian," katanya.

10. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor appeared in Berita Harian Online published in July 7, 2020 titled "Pendapatan RM2,500 di Kuala Lumpur mungkin dikategorikan miskin bandar".

KUALA LUMPUR: Paras Garis Kemiskinan (PGK) baharu yang akan diumumkan kerajaan dalam masa terdekat perlu bercirikan lokaliti tertentu selain menambah beberapa lagi segmen yang dianggap satu keperluan bagi sebuah isi rumah. Penganalisis ekonomi, Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor, berkata wujud perbezaan yang ketara dari segi kos sara hidup antara bandar tertentu di Malaysia. Contohnya kata beliau, bagi bandar seperti Kota Bharu di Kelantan, dengan pendapatan RM1,500 sebulan, ia mungkin mencukupi bagi individu yang sudah berkeluarga, namun di bandar besar lain mungkin berbeza. "Di Kuala Lumpur, dengan pendapatan RM2,500 sebulan mungkin dikategorikan sebagai miskin bandar. Sebab itu, ukuran PGK ini perlu dikhususkan mengikut lokaliti atau bandar-bandar. "Mungkin Bandaraya Johor Bahru dan Georgetown, Pulau Pinang tidak sama dengan PGK di Kota Kinabalu di Sabah. Sama juga (PGK) di Kuala Lumpur pun berbeza dengan bandar-bandar yang lain," katanya ketika dihubungi, hari ini. Katanya, pengkelasan PGK mengikut lokaliti ini akan membantu kerajaan untuk merangka dasar ekonomi yang lebih teliti dan bersasar. Penilaian PGK juga mesti diperluas dengan mengambil kira perbelanjaan baru bagi setiap isi rumah yang kini boleh dianggap sebagai satu keperluan. "Contohnya seperti bil Astro, bil telefon bimbit dan sebagainya. Ini dianggap sebagai keperluan utama bagi isi rumah sekarang. Jadi ia mesti dikira sebagai kos perbelanjaan. "Sama juga bayaran pinjaman bank untuk kenderaan serta pinjaman PTPTN (Perbadanan Tabung Pendidikan Tinggi Nasional) juga dianggap sebagai satu keperluan pada masa kini," katanya. Shazali yang juga Profesor Kanan Fakulti Ekonomi dan Perniagaan, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS) berkata, PGK juga mesti bersifat dinamik yang mana penilaiannya dibuat pada setiap masa.

11. Prof Datuk Dr Shazali Abu Mansor appeared in Malaysiakini Online published in July 27, 2020 titled "Out of bullets' - Battered SMEs may not survive another full MCO".

been hit for (almost) three months that time, they are already on their last legs. If they are hit again for a month or two, that is what we are worried about. The impact of this second time, if it happens, will be worse. Because back then, they (SMEs) had some savings. Now, all their 'bullets' and savings are gone... they have all been used up," he said when contacted by Malaysiakini today. The MCO, which was first implemented on March 18, saw all economic sectors ordered to shut down aside from essential services, which caused many businesses to lose their source of income. After the government loosened restrictions under the conditional MCO starting May 4, most businesses resumed their operations though subject to strict SOP.

CORONAVIRUS | The recent rise in Covid-19 cases has prompted the government to tighten the standard operating procedures (SOP) to break the transmission of the disease. Defense Minister Ismail Sabri Yaakob had also said this afternoon that the government may be forced to impose the movement control order (MCO) again and shut down all movement if the daily Covid-19 cases reach three-digit figures again. If that comes to pass, Universiti Malaysia Sarawak economist Shazali Abu Mansor said the small and medium enterprises (SMEs) will be the most affected. "Because these SMEs have

The SOPs were further loosened following the recovery MCO which started on June 10. Shazali said in order to avoid a shutdown of the economy again, SMEs have to ensure the SOP is complied with, especially by customers because the businesses will be the ones to suffer if the MCO restrictions are tightened. He added that most business premises are not complying fully with the SOP, based on his own personal observations. However, Shazali said, even if the MCO restrictions are to be tightened, it may only be done in selected areas such as those categorized as red zones. The government can also strategize better to help businesses in these areas if they were forced to shut down, compared to the first phase of the MCO which saw a national shutdown of the economy. "If it's selective, for example in Kuching, there aren't as many SMEs in Kuching as in entire Malaysia. If (the government) were to help, they have the resources to do so. But lives cannot be gambled away. If they should close, (then they should comply and) close," he said.
